

New Road Primary School

Weekly Newsletter–19th November (Week 10)

Talk Homework: Look through any book, newspaper or leaflet at home. Find a word that you don't know the meaning of and find out what it means to then share it with us all at school. If you can remember how to spell it too that would be extra special !

Weekly News

Another busy week at New Road with the children enjoying inspiring activities in class. It has been Anti-Bullying Week so all the children have taken part in lessons focused on kindness to others and have shared lots of wonderful ideas on how they can be a good friend.

Our Year 6 'virtually' met the author, Catherine Bruton, who wrote the book the children are reading in class. They all had some really thought provoking questions for her.

We had a visit from two of our school Governors who spent the morning observing the children in class looking at how we promote vocabulary in school and they shared lots of fantastic comments about the children.

Today is going to be a 'spotty' and 'yellow' day as we all celebrate Children In Need together and fundraise for the amazing charity.
